ABSTRACT

This summary report is based on the U.S. Office of Education's 11th annual survey of students enrolled for advanced degrees. Included in this publication are summary enrollment tables by level of study, attendance status, sex of student, field of specialization, State or other U.S. area, and institutional control and level. Comparisons are also made with the previous year's data. The Survey Report form is included in the appendix. (Author/AF)

HIGHLIGHTS

Students Enrolled for Master's and Doctor's Degrees

Enrollments in programs leading to master's and doctor's degrees totaled 756,865 in fall 1969--an increase of 7.5 percent over the enrollments reported in fall 1968.

Gains for women were greater than for men, between 1968 and 1969, both in absolute numbers and in percent increase.

The 494,363 first-year students enrolled for master's and doctor's degrees comprised approximately two-thirds (65.3 percent) of the total enrollments in these programs.

Students Enrolled for First-Professional Degrees

In fall 1969, 151,858 students were enrolled in first-professional degree programs in the fields covered by this survey. The fall 1968 figure, 137,877, is not strictly comparable to the 1969 total because of shifts in survey definitions.

For the group of seven selected fields for which data are comparable between the two years, enrollment of women increased by 18.2 percent while men's enrollment increased by 3.8 percent. But enrollment of women continued at less than a tenth of the total (6.0 percent in 1968 and 6.8 percent in 1969).

For the aggregate of the same seven selected fields, the 48,224 first-year students comprised approximately one-third (36.8 percent) of the total enrollments.

FOREWORD

This report on enrollments for advanced degrees summarizes data from the 11th in the series of surveys in this area conducted by the U. S. Office of Education. The primary purpose of this survey series is to present current, useful data describing enrollments for master's and higher degrees in the United States.

This summary report is one of two major publications from the fall 1969 surve Data for individual institutions, including detail by field of study, appear in Students Enrolled for Advanced Degrees, Fall 1969: Institutional Data. Togeth the two publications are intended to provide basic data for national, regional, a institutional policymaking, planning, and management.

It is especially important for users of these data to recognize that this is not a survey of all graduate students but is restricted to those students who were actually enrolled in the fall term in programs leading to master's level or high degrees.

The Office of Education gratefully acknowledges the efforts of college and unive sity officials who supplied the data. Their cooperation made the present study possible.

INTRODUCTION

Historical Summary of Survey

This summary report is based on the U. S. Office of Education's 11th annual survey of students enrolled for advanced degrees. Included in this publication are summary enrollment tables by level of study, attendance status, sex of student, field of specialization, State or other U. S. area, and institutional control and level. Comparisons are also made with the previous year's data. For a listing of enrollments within each field of study at each institution the companion volume on institutional data may be consulted. 1/ Enrollments shown in the preliminary report 2/ were based on data for all reporting institutions. These enrollment totals remain the same after further editing and analysis and represent the final figures shown in the present publication.

Initiated in 1959, the survey was at first limited to the fields of science, mathematics, and the health professions. The survey was broadened in its second year to cover all of the principal fields in which master's and doctor's degrees were conferred. In 1966, as part of the first Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS), the survey was further broadened to include students in programs leading to first-professional degrees in selected fields and to provide separate counts of men and women instead of the combined totals that had been obtained in previous years. There was no change in the questionnaire in 1967. In the fall 1968 questionnaire 11 new fields were added, and 9 more new fields were added in the fall 1969 questionnaire; enrollments in these 20 fields had previously been reported in "other" and "miscellaneous" categories. (See appendix, paragraph E-9 of the survey instructions, for the additional fields in 1969.) The principal difference between the 1969 questionnaire and previous surveys involved the classification of enrollment by levels of study. In particular, the terminal-year and intermediate-year categories were merged as "students beyond the first year" (see Survey Coverage and Methodology).

CURRENT TRENDS

Enrollments for Master's and Doctor's Degrees

Enrollments for master's and doctor's degrees for all levels of study combined--first-year students and students beyond the first year--increased by 7.5 percent from 1968 to 1969. Data for 1969 are based on a total of 801 institutions; for 1968, on 760 institutions.

Comparative analysis of the different subgroups of candidates shows gains ranging from a 2.9-percent increase for men studying full time to a 12.5-percent increase for all women and for women studying part time. Comparisons by sex for numbers of full-time and part-time students show greater gains for women than for men, both in absolute numbers and in percent change.

All enrollments for master's and doctor's degrees

Sex and attendance status	1968	1969	Absolute difference	Percent change
Grand totals	703,745	756,865	53,120	+7.5
All men	468,779	492,599	23,820	+5.1
All women	234,966	264,266	29,300	+12.5
All full-time	322,936	340,960	18,024	+5.6
All part-time	380,809	415,905	35,096	+9.2
Men, full-time	232,573	239,391	6,818	+2.9
Women, full-time	90,363	101,569	11,206	+12.4
Men, part-time	236,206	253,208	17,002	+7.2
Women, part-time . . .	144,603	162,697	18,094	+12.5

First-year enrollments for master's and doctor's degrees increased by 7.9 percent. Again, percent changes were greater for women than for men. In absolute numbers, women studying part time gained more than men studying part time, but the reverse was true for full-time students. "First-year students" accounted for 65.3 percent (494,363) of the enrollments for master's and doctor's degrees in 1969.

Enrollments for First-Professional Degrees

In fall 1969, 151,858 students were enrolled in first-professional degree programs in all fields covered by this survey. Taken at face value, this was an increase of 10.1 percent over the fall 1968 total of 137,877. However, totals for the two years are not directly comparable, mainly because of the distinct difference in the basis for the counts in theology, as noted in the discussion of student classification. Also, the category "other" is not comparable from year to year due to changes in the fields included. For these reasons, the following comparisons have been limited to those students enrolled for first-professional degrees in the seven selected fields that were defined similarly in the two surveys: chiropody, dentistry, medicine, optometry, osteopathy, veterinary medicine, and law. Enrollment in these fields for all levels of study (first-year students and students beyond the first year) increased by 4.7 percent from 1968 to 1969. Gains shown for the different subgroups of candidates follow. Women showed larger relative gains than men between 1968 and 1969 in each of the seven fields compared; however, women accounted for only 6.0 percent of the total enrollments in these fields in 1968 and 6.8 percent in 1969.

*Chiropody, dentistry, medicine, optometry, osteopathy, veterinary medicine, and law. Note that because of the omission of theology and "other," the grand totals here are smaller than the totals shown in tables 2, 4, and 5.

First-year enrollments for first-professional degrees in the seven fields increased by 14.1 percent. There were greater percent increases for women than for men, but men showed greater gains than women in absolute numbers for all of the various subgroups.

SURVEY COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Institutions Included

This report is based on data furnished by 865 institutions of higher education in the United States and outlying areas.[3/] The questionnaire "Students Enrolled for Advanced Degrees, Fall 1969"--part of the Higher Education General Information Survey (HEGIS)--was sent to all universities and other 4-year institutions in the U. S. Office of Education's higher education survey universe for the 1969-70 academic year.[4/] (The questionnaire and instructions to respondents are reproduced in the appendix of this report.) As far as the U. S. Office of Education could determine, these 865 institutions that provided data were the only institutions enrolling students for advanced degrees in fall 1969. Of these institutions, 520 had enrollments only for master's and/or doctor's degrees, 281 had enrollments for master's and/or doctor's degrees as well as for first-professional degrees, and 64 had enrollments for first-professional degrees only. Thus, tables showing candidates for master's or doctor's degrees are based on data from a total of 801 institutions; those reporting candidates for first-professional degrees, on 345 institutions.

All of the 865 institutions responded with complete survey data, making it unnecessary for the Office of Education to estimate any of the classifications by sex of student, level of enrollment, attendance status, or field of study.

Students Included

Instructions for inclusion or exclusion of students were exactly the same for the 1969 survey as for the 1968 survey. All students enrolled in programs leading to a degree beyond the baccalaureate were to be included. One part of the survey covered students enrolled for master's or doctoral degrees. The second part covered those studying for first-professional degrees in specific fields (see appendix, section B of the survey instructions, for a more detailed account of students to be included).

3/ In Students Enrolled for Advanced Degrees, Fall 1969: Preliminary Report, a total of 866 institutions were cited. Because the early counts had overlooked the merger of two institutions, the final count reduces to a total of 865 institutions, with the coverage the same. Enrollment counts in the preliminary and final reports are identical.

4/ For a description of the higher education survey universe, see Opening Fall Enrollment in Higher Education, 1969, Report on Preliminary Survey, OE-54003-69A. The Education Directory, 1968-69, Part 3, Higher Education, OE-50000-69, was the primary source for the list of institutions included in the survey universe, together with any changes in fall 1969 known by the Office of Education.

Students Excluded

Students excluded were those:

(1) Working on degree requirements but not formally enrolled for the fall 1969 term.

(2) Enrolled in graduate-level curriculums or courses that would not terminate in advanced degrees.

(3) Designated as "special" and "unclassified" but not enrolled for advanced degrees.

(4) Pursuing postdoctoral work.

(5) Enrolled at a branch or extension center in a foreign country.

Student Classification

A major change in the 1969 survey from prior surveys was the reduction in the classification by level of enrollment from three to two categories. The two categories used in 1969 were: first-year students and students beyond the first year. In prior surveys the three-level classification separated first-year, intermediate, and terminal-year students. First-year students were those who had completed less than a full year of required study for an advanced degree, terminal-year students were those expected to complete all doctoral requirements by the June following the survey date, and intermediate students were those between the two extremes. In the 1969 survey, the category of students beyond the first year included the two groups previously designated as intermediate students and terminal-year students.

Remaining unchanged was the classification of enrollments by attendance status. As in prior surveys, the instructions for the 1969 survey described a full-time student as one whose academic load (course work or other required activity) was at least 75 percent of the normal student load as defined by the institution; students carrying less than 75 percent of the normal load were classified as part-time.

Added to the 1969 survey were nine academic fields previously not reported separately (see appendix, paragraph E-9 of the survey instructions).

In another change, the category of first-professional degrees in theology was broadened to include not only candidates for the bachelor of divinity but also rabbi, master of divinity, and other degrees at a comparable level. Many programs that formerly led to the degree of bachelor of divinity are being phased out and replaced by master of divinity programs. In such programs, the bachelor of divinity degree is not a prerequisite of the master of divinity. For this reason, it seemed appropriate to redefine the category of first-professional degrees to include the master of divinity. Thus the 1969 counts for theology, which include master of divinity and other degrees previously excluded, are not strictly comparable to those of previous years.

Verification of Data

In an endeavor to obtain complete and accurate data, each questionnaire was carefully examined, analyzed, and verified. The data were compared with those in previous years' questionnaires when available. Catalogs of institutions were consulted for descriptions of programs and criteria when necessary. The questionnaires were also reviewed for compliance with the instructions accompanying the survey form.

Many of the institutions provided information about significant changes in enrollments or offerings that would account for large increases or decreases in their reports. When appropriate, letters were sent or telephone calls were made to obtain institutional verification or revision of the data reported. Throughout the preparation of this report, the tabulations were carefully checked for internal consistency.

ORGANIZATION OF THE TABLES

As noted earlier, the principal difference between the 1969 survey and earlier surveys in this series concerned levels of study. The tables of this report reflect this difference showing only first-year students and students beyond the first year rather than the three levels (first-year, intermediate, and terminal-year students) shown in previous reports. However, it should be noted that the category "first-year students" is strictly comparable from year to year; the category of students beyond the first year in 1969 is comparable with the combined categories of intermediate and terminal-year students used in prior years.

In tables for both years, separate counts are given by sex of student, level of study, and attendance status (full-time or part-time). Other classifications vary from table to table.

Tables 1 and 2 provide overall summaries of 1969 enrollments for advanced degrees; the former applies to candidates for master's and doctor's degrees and the latter to candidates for first-professional degrees. For these tables, 4-year institutions were divided into two categories: universities and all other 4-year institutions. The university classification includes those institutions that give considerable stress to graduate instruction, that confer advanced degrees as well as bachelor's degrees in a variety of liberal arts fields, and that have at least two professional schools that are not exclusively technological. Four-year institutions not classifiable as universities make up the second category. Table 3 shows counts, by State, of candidates for master's and doctor's degrees. Table 4 gives similar counts of candidates for first-professional degrees. Table 5 has counts by broad area of study for all advanced degrees, including master's, doctor's, and first-professional degrees. Table 6 presents additional detail on enrollments for master's and doctor's degrees in individual fields of concentration within the broad study areas reported in table 5.

No totals or subtotals have been rounded in the tables of this report, although this in no way implies that they are accurate to the last digit. By reporting these data without rounding, it was felt that the tables could be used more conveniently.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING
SCHEDULE V. - STUDENTS ENROLLED FOR ADVANCED DEGREES, FALL 1969

(OE FORM 2300-2.5)

Please read the definitions and instructions before entering the data for your institution. If you need additional clarification on any of the items, please call Dr. Marjorie Chandler, 202-962-7301 in Washington, D.C.

DEFINITIONS AND INSTRUCTIONS

GENERAL

A. PURPOSE: The purpose of this schedule is to ascertain the number of students enrolled this term for advanced degrees, the students' fields of specialization and their progress toward their degrees.

B. SCOPE OF THE SURVEY: This is not a survey of all students taking graduate study, but of all enrolled for a degree beyond the baccalaureate.

1. Students to be INCLUDED in the report:

   a. Include in Part A all students enrolled for a master's degree; for a 6-year degree such as Education Specialist (Ed.S.), Civil Engineer (C.E.), etc.; and for the doctorate (Ph.D., Ed.D., etc.).

   b. Include in Part B students in professional programs which require at least 2 academic years of previous college work for entrance and which require a total of at least 6 academic years of college work for completion. For example, include students enrolled for first-professional degrees in Law (LL.B. or J.D.), Medicine (M.D.), Theology (B.D.) and so forth. Students enrolled for degrees beyond the first-professional in these fields should be reported in Part A.

   c. Include in Parts A and B students enrolled for an advanced degree on the main campus, on a branch campus, or in an extension center.

2. Students to be EXCLUDED from this report:

   a. Students who, although known to be working on degree requirements, are not formally enrolled this term.

   b. Students enrolled in graduate-level curriculums which lead to increased professional competence, but which do not terminate in an advanced degree. Students in certificate programs for school principals, for example, should be excluded.

   c. "Special" and "unclassified" students taking courses at the levels requested, but not enrolled for degrees.

   d. Post-doctoral students.

   e. Students enrolled at a branch or extension center in a foreign country.

C. TIME PERIOD: Report only those students enrolled as of the fall term of the current academic year (1969-70).

PART A - STUDENTS ENROLLED FOR MASTER'S AND HIGHER DEGREES

D. GROUPING OF SUBJECT-FIELDS: Please examine Part A of this schedule to observe how the various fields of study have been grouped. Each subject group is divided to indicate enrollment by men and women. All of the subject-fields have been classified under the following 26 capitalized headings:

1000 AGRICULTURE
1400 ARCHITECTURE
1700 BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES
2000 BUSINESS AND COMMERCE
1500 CITY PLANNING
2100 COMPUTER SCIENCE AND SYSTEMS ANALYSIS
2300 EDUCATION
2600 ENGINEERING
2900 ENGLISH AND JOURNALISM
3200 FINE AND APPLIED ARTS
3300 FOLKLORE
3500 FOREIGN LANGUAGES AND LITERATURE
3800 FORESTRY
4100 GEOGRAPHY
4400 HEALTH PROFESSIONS
4700 HOME ECONOMICS
5000 LAW
5300 LIBRARY SCIENCE
5600 MATHEMATICAL SCIENCES
6500 PHILOSOPHY
6800 PHYSICAL SCIENCES
7100 PSYCHOLOGY
7300 RECORDS MANAGEMENT
7400 RELIGION
7700 SOCIAL SCIENCES
8300 BROAD GENERAL CURRICULUMS AND MISCELLANEOUS FIELDS

If your institution does not enroll students for advanced degrees in one of the 26 subject areas listed above, you may skip all of the items under that heading. Thus, most registrars will properly skip the entire section headed AGRICULTURE. Similarly, many will properly skip the sections on HEALTH PROFESSIONS and on RELIGION. Many specialized professional schools will skip the section on EDUCATION. Technological schools will generally skip the section on FINE AND APPLIED ARTS. Men's colleges will skip the section on HOME ECONOMICS. Appropriate skipping can speed the completion of your report without injury to quality or accuracy.

E. CLASSIFICATION OF ENROLLMENT BY FIELD OF STUDY: Students should be reported in the fields in which they are specializing, regardless of the department, division, or college in which they are enrolled. For example, students specializing in Agricultural Engineering should be reported in Item 2607 under the broad area of Engineering even though they may be receiving their training in the school of Agriculture.

1. Please classify enrollment into fields of study as specifically as the list on the schedule permits. Example: Enrollment in an Accounting curriculum should be reported as Accounting (Item 2002), NOT in Business and Commerce, General (Item 2001).

2. Enrollment in fields of study which are not listed should be consolidated with the listed fields if such consolidation is descriptive of the specialization. Thus,

Sculpture should be reported in Fine and Applied Arts, other fields (Item 3213);

Astrophysics should be reported in Astronomy (Item 6804);

Geochemistry should be reported in Earth Science, other fields (Item 6828);

Criminology should be reported in Sociology (Item 7725);

Police Administration should be reported in Applied Social Sciences, other fields (Item 7746);

Industrial Design should be reported in Fine and Applied Arts, other fields (Item 3213) or in Architecture (Item 1400)--depending on the nature of the curriculum; and so on.

3. Fields of Study Offered by Your Institution for the First Time This Term: If enrollments are reported in Fall 1969 for the first time, in a field of study new to your institution, please place an "X" in Column (4). This may save correspondence later regarding the entry.

4. Interarea fields of study: Item 8313 is for reporting fields of specialization which represent two or more broad SUBJECT AREAS. For example, MASS COMMUNICATIONS, encompassing segments of PSYCHOLOGY, EDUCATION, BUSINESS, JOURNALISM, SOCIAL SCIENCES, FINE ARTS, etc., should be reported here. Specify the name of the interarea field of study when reporting in Item 8313.

5. If the field of study does not fit into any of the listed fields, report in Item 8314, Field of Study Not Classifiable in Items 1000 through 8313 Above.

6. If there is no information about the field of study, report the enrollment in Item 8399, Field of Study Not Identified.

7. A cross-reference listing of related fields of study appears at the start of each subject-area on the form. Your attention to these lists will be appreciated.

8. Note that the listing of fields of study within each broad subject area has a similar structure. The first field of study in the list is the general curriculum in the subject area (with no further specialization); the next-to-last field of study is for reporting fields of study within the subject area which are not listed; and the last category is for reporting enrollment where the field of study within the subject area is not known -- where there is no information on the specialization within the subject area.

9. Fields of study are the same as those used in 1968 with the following additions:

Biological Sciences
  Molecular Biology

Engineering
  Biomedical Engineering
  Ceramic Engineering

Religion
  Religious Education, Bible
  Religion, Liberal Arts Curriculum. Nonsectarian

Education
  Education of the Gifted
  Special Learning Disabilities
  Education of the Multiple Handicapped
  Administration of Special Education

Within the area of Education, the single category Education of The Visually Handicapped has replaced two categories (Education of the Partially Sighted and Education of The Blind).

10. Please note that the Social Sciences (Items 7700 - 7799) have been classified into two groups, the BASIC Social Sciences and the APPLIED Social Sciences; the specific fields remain unchanged.

F. CLASSIFICATION OF ENROLLMENT BY LEVEL OF STUDY: Please classify enrollment into the two following categories;

1. Students who have completed less than one full year of required study for an advanced degree. -- Report in Columns 5 - 8 students who, prior to this term, had completed less than two semesters or three quarters of full-time graduate study or the equivalent in part-time study. Note that these students are identified by the amount of study completed prior to this term, rather than the number of semesters or quarters in which they have been enrolled.

2. Students who have completed one or more years of required study. -- Report in Columns 9 - 12 students who, prior to this term, had completed two semesters or three quarters or more of full-time study or the equivalent in part-time study for an advanced degree.

3. Note that the 1969 questionnaire does not request separate estimates of students who are expected to complete all doctoral requirements within the year; rather, such students are to be included in Columns 9 - 12, "Completed one or more year's study".

G. CLASSIFICATION OF ENROLLMENT BY ATTENDANCE STATUS: A full-time student is one whose academic load in terms of course work or other activity (such as a thesis, research, or teaching) is at least 75% of that normally required of such students. Time spent by teaching fellows should be included only if such teaching is performed as a requirement for a degree. Employment which is not a part of the prescribed activity for an advanced degree or time spent on work required because of lack of undergraduate background should not be counted as time spent on graduate work. A part-time student is one who is carrying an academic schedule of less than three-fourths the normal load.

H. PLEASE EXPLAIN exceptionally large increases or decreases in specific fields of study, the absence of enrollment in previously reported curriculums, etc.

PART B - STUDENTS ENROLLED FOR PROFESSIONAL DEGREES IN SELECTED FIELDS

I. CLASSIFICATION OF ENROLLMENT BY LEVEL OF STUDY:

1. Report in Columns 5 - 8 those students who have completed the previous college work (preprofessional training) required for admission to the professional school but who, prior to this term, had completed less than two semesters or three quarters of full-time study or the equivalent in part-time study in the professional school. Note that these students are identified by the amount of study completed prior to this term, rather than the number of semesters or quarters in which they have been enrolled.

2. Report students who have completed one or more years of required study in Columns 9 - 12 of Part B. Report in these columns students who, prior to this term, had completed two semesters or three quarters or more of full-time study or the equivalent in part-time study for the professional degree.

J. CLASSIFICATION OF ENROLLMENT BY ATTENDANCE STATUS: See paragraph G above.
